Web hosting and online services provider Hostway Corp. announced it has partnered with the world's leading Internet services franchise WSI. Through the partnership, the WSI consultants have added Hostway's Web hosting services to their line of product offerings that will empower small to medium-sized business owners to create and manage a successful presence on the Web.

"Hostway is thrilled to join the 'Global e-Marketplace' of vendors offered by WSI," said John Lee, vice president of global marketing of Hostway. "We see this as an ideal partnership in which everyone benefits - the WSI Consultants, Hostway and business owners - as it helps entrepreneurs take their businesses to the next level by taking advantage of products and services offered by Hostway at a discounted rate through their WSI Consultant."

Ron McArthur, president of WSI Internet Consulting and Education comments, "As the SMB market gets more informed and educated about the potential of the Internet, there is an increasing demand for advanced hosting solutions. WSI Consultants help satisfy this demand from customers to help them maximize their business profitability on the Web."

Hostway offers WSI customers a select group of plans and features and access to three of Hostway's global data center locations in London (UK), Hannover (Germany) and Chicago (USA) to give WSI Consultants the opportunity to sell Hostway's services globally and serve WSI customers as efficiently as possible.
